

At a glance

Our key achievements in 2013

Who we are

IPPF is a global service provider and a leading advocate of sexual and reproductive health and rights for all. We are a worldwide movement of national organizations working with and for communities and individuals.

161 Member Associations and collaborative partners

Our work contributes to four Millennium Development Goals:

Service delivery results*

* Due to rounding, numbers presented in this document may not add up precisely to the totals provided and percentages may not precisely reflect the absolute figures.
† The numbers of unintended pregnancies and unsafe abortions averted are estimated using Marie Stopes International's Impact 2 model.
‡ Couple years of protection refers to the total number of years of contraceptive protection provided to a couple.

Regional advocacy successes

As part of the ICPD Beyond 2014 Review, IPPF convened civil society to engage in and influence inter-governmental regional declarations to shape the post-2015 development agenda.

Highlights from each population conference declaration include:

If you would like to support the work of IPPF or any of our Member Associations by making a financial contribution, please visit our website www.ippf.org or contact IPPF Central Office in London, UK.

Published in August 2014 by the International Planned Parenthood Federation

4 Newhams Row
London SE1 3UZ
United Kingdom
tel +44 (0)20 7939 8200
fax +44 (0)20 7939 8300
web www.ippf.org
email info@ippf.org

UK Registered Charity No. 229476

Advocacy successes, by country 2005–13

142
Member Associations
contributed to

653 policy and/or
legislative changes
in support or defence of sexual and reproductive health and rights

IPPF's advocacy creates an enabling environment to increase access to services, promote sexual rights and gender equality, and reduce stigma and discrimination. Member Associations make a significant difference to the lives of millions by advocating for changes to laws and policies in support of sexual and reproductive health and rights, and opposing those that are harmful.

Asociación Puertorriqueña Pro-Bienestar de la Familia (PROFAMILIA)

The Puerto Rican government passed a law that prohibits workplace discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity. PROFAMILIA volunteers and staff worked with politicians and other organizations, participated in public hearings, and engaged the media for support to help bring about this change.

Association Pour la Promotion de la Famille Haïtienne (PROFAMIL)

Following advocacy and technical input from PROFAMIL, the Haitian government revised the penal code to decriminalize abortion in certain cases. Abortion is now permissible in circumstances of foetal malformation or abnormality; previously, it was only allowed to save the life of a woman.

Association pour le Bien-Etre Familial/Naissances Désirables (ABEF-ND)

ABEF-ND engaged the support of other national organizations and networks whose efforts convinced the government to allocate funding for the first time ever to purchase contraceptives. Previously, contraceptive procurement in the Democratic Republic of Congo depended solely on donor support.

Alliance of Solidarity for the Family (ASFF)

IPPF's collaborative partner in Seychelles provided technical support in the development of a revised version of the country's 2001 HIV and AIDS policy. The updated version calls for targeted prevention and support activities for sex workers, men who have sex with men, and people who inject drugs.

Sudan Family Planning Association (SFPA)

SFPA worked with community leaders, decision makers and parliamentarians to discuss the importance of enforcing the national law on children's rights that protects girls from female genital mutilation. As a result, the Ministry of Social Affairs issued a new decree that enforces the law in three states.

Reproductive Health Alliance of Kyrgyzstan (RHAK)

RHAK worked with the government to design a training course for gynaecologists to provide youth-friendly information and services. As a result, the Ministry of Health passed a law that requires all gynaecologists who provide services to young people to complete the training.

Societatea de Educatie Contraceptiva si Sexuala (SECS)

In Romania, SECS worked with a coalition of 17 organizations to block proposed legislation to require 'crisis pregnancy counselling' and a five-day waiting period before an abortion procedure. Women would also have been required to sign a document stating 'life begins at conception' before being allowed an abortion.

Afghan Family Guidance Association (AFGA)

Women in Afghanistan have access to implants for the first time, following their inclusion on the Special List of Contraceptives. AFGA worked with the Ministry of Public Health's National Board of Medicines and is one of only two organizations now authorized to provide this method.

Respect Educate Nurture Empower Women (RENEW)

In Bhutan, RENEW helped draft a domestic violence bill and continued to advocate for amendments during the drafting stage. The Association met regularly with parliamentarians to engage their support to enact the law that criminalizes domestic violence and clarifies the legal grounds for prosecuting perpetrators.

Tonga Family Health Association (TFHA)

The government of Tonga revised its national youth strategy which now includes a specific objective on the sexual and reproductive health of young people. TFHA provided technical input on young people's sexual and reproductive health needs and advocated that the strategy addresses these needs.

Advocacy successes, by theme 2013

66
Member Associations
contributed to

97 policy and/or
legislative changes
in support or defence of sexual and
reproductive health and rights

25 Education and services for young people

17 Access to safe and legal abortion

13 Promoting sexual and reproductive rights

12 Access to contraception

11 Prevention of sexual and gender-based violence

07 National budget allocations for SRH, including contraception

07 Support for people living with HIV

05 SRHR of vulnerable populations